The unit also turns itself n and off – so basically a nightmare I was told to replace the system would be £1800.. M3mpower Hi, thanks for contacting me regarding your RT3 matter A few weeks ago, a customer of mine had the same problem on his Peugeot 407, he took the car to Peugeot dealer and they tried a new screen on and it worked, so his problem was with the display, i have supplied him with a second hand display cause he couldn't afford a new one (£1600) and everything is working ok, sat-nav, radio, cdetc In your case, it depends how sure and competent the dealer you went to is, try to find out what they did, what diagnosis did they follow, ask them if they can try another unit, maybe they did and thats why they said you need another RT3 unit?.. I can supply, and configure RT3 headunits to your vehicle, i have various types of RT3 in stock, so if you are looking for one, please get in touch.. Are the units that you sell new or reconditioned – do you repair units? – Also is there any way I can checkthe screen in working ok? – So many questions.. Also, on each type, There is one for colour display and the other for monochrome display.. I am told by me dealer that the main unit is not 'talking' to the screen and that it cannot be fixed..
